

Networks for those working in Ethics, Social Science and Community Engagement with Health in Low- and Middle-Income Countries

eMOPs

www.e-mops.ning.com

Audience

Those working on ethics and community engagement across the Wellcome Trust Major Oversees Programmes (MOPs).

Content

Home to the Global Health Bioethics Network: a programme to carry out ethics research and build ethics capacity across the MOPs.

Member blog posts, projects, news and discussions.

Signposting to online courses and resources.

Ethics

Global Health Bioethics, Research Ethics & Review

www.bioethicsresearchreview.tghn.org

Contact: bioethicsresearchreview@tghn.org

Audience

Anyone interested in the ethical issues arising in collaborative global health research.

Content

Free certified general and specialist eLearning courses in research ethics and links to online training from external providers

Links to international and national guidance, regulation and resources on research ethics

Discussion forums and blog posts for researchers and committee members who review research

TREAD (the research ethics application database)

www.tread.tghn.org

Contact: tread@tghn.org

Audience

Researchers seeking guidance on the ethical dimensions of their research.

Content

Research ethics committee and institutional review board application examples describing pathways researchers have used to protect their research subjects from harm.

Community Engagement

Mesh: community engagement with health research

www.mesh-ce.org

Contact: mesh@tghn.org

Audience

Anyone involved in planning and delivering public or community engagement activities or programmes.

Content

Case studies and project reports demonstrating different approaches to engagement in different contexts.

Easy to Navigate resources on engagement and evaluation of engagement including tool kits, guides and academic literature.

Signposting to training, e-learning, news and events.

Opportunities for networking and discussion.

Social Science

Global Health Social Science

www.globalhealthsocialscience.tghn.org

Contact: info@globalhealthtrials.org

Audience

Anyone working in global health and using qualitative and participatory research methods.

Content

Training materials for conducting qualitative and participatory research.

Collated existing resources on conducting qualitative and participatory research including academic and grey literature.

Dedicated online discussion space to allow researchers to share ideas, reflect on practice and develop collaborations